Our Story: Empowering Child to Reach Their True Potential.

 BREAKING AUTISM, INC. · THURSDAY, APRIL 2, 2020 ·

By educating our clients and minimizing conflict, we maximize resources and ultimately keep the focus on the child's success.

At Breaking Autism, we help children, families, and professionals in the special needs community. We understand the complex and challenging road ahead. We are here for you.

Time is far too crucial in the development of a child to let it frivolously pass.

Breaking Autism is unlike other special education consultants, advocates, or law firms. By educating our clients and minimizing conflict, we maximize resources and ultimately keep the focus on the child's success. Our unique business model allows us to work together with parents and professionals, ensuring a child's education is appropriate and holistically meets their unique needs.

Our approach focuses on the big picture of a child's life. We then look to what your child needs to reach their potential and develop a systematic plan to achieve these goals. Likewise, our approach allows parents to remain in constant contact with us, free to ask questions and gain guidance at the speed they need. As a result, issues are identified and resolved in a proactive and cost-effective manner. Meanwhile, parents can feel confident that their child is being empowered to reach his true potential-- to have a meaning future.

Now that's powerful. And we love being a part of it!
